3 Objective and Guiding Principle of Selection

- 3.1 Wrestling Australia's objective, in enacting this Nomination Criteria and then nominating eligible Athletes to Commonwealth Games Australia for selection in the 2022 Australian Commonwealth Games Team, is to only nominate and select Athletes who Wrestling Australia considers to have the best possible chance of producing podium performances and winning gold medals at the 2022 Commonwealth Games.
- 3.2 At the date that this Nomination Criteria comes into effect in accordance with clause 1.4, Commonwealth Games Australia has notified Wrestling Australia that Commonwealth Games Australia is allocated a maximum of six (6) quota places in the program for the Sport at the 2022 Commonwealth Games.
- 3.3 What this means that, subject to any change to the number of quota places allocated to the 2022 Australian Commonwealth Games Team for the Sport, Commonwealth Games Australia cannot select more than a maximum of six (6) eligible Athletes into the 2022 Australian Commonwealth Games Team, to compete in the Sport at the 2022 Commonwealth Games.
- 3.4 Wrestling Australia may only nominate eligible Athletes to Commonwealth Games Australia where the Commonwealth Games Federation has allocated quota places in the Program for the Sport to Commonwealth Games Australia.
- 3.5 Accordingly, Wrestling Australia cannot nominate at least one (1) eligible Athlete to Commonwealth Games Australia, for selection in each weight division in each of the men's and women's competitions at the 2022 Commonwealth Games, noting that the competition in the Sport at the 2022 Commonwealth Games will be in the Freestyle discipline, noting that the men's and women's competitions will each be comprised of six (6) distinct weight divisions.
- 3.6 For the avoidance of any doubt, Wrestling Australia is under no obligation to nominate the number of eligible Athletes equal to the number of quotas place that have been allocated to Commonwealth Games Australia in the program for the Sport at the 2022 Commonwealth Games, or indeed any eligible Athletes.

4 Nomination Date

- 4.1 Nominations by Wrestling Australia, of eligible Athletes to Commonwealth Games Australia, must be received by Commonwealth Games Australia by the Nomination Date and no later.
- 4.2 Any nomination made by Wrestling Australia to Commonwealth Games Australia will be invalid for all purposes, unless the nomination is received by Commonwealth Games Australia by no later than the Nomination Date (or such later date that is notified by Commonwealth Games Australia, in its absolute discretion).

6 Nomination Panel's Discretion

- 6.1 For reasons including those set out in clause 3, the Nomination Panel has absolute discretion in the nomination decisions made under this Nomination Criteria, having regard to the Nomination Factors.
- 6.2 In making nomination decisions the Nomination Panel may, in the exercise of its absolute discretion, apply a standard which calls for a value judgment and an overall assessment of the Nomination Factors. The Nomination Panel (and each member of the Nomination Panel) are expected to bring to account those matters within the Nomination Factors that they consider to be relevant to the determination, in order to achieve the objective referred to at clause 3.1.
- 6.3 When comparing Athletes' performances, and especially when comparing the performances of Athletes across different genders and across different weight classes within each gender, the primary function of the Nomination Panel's discretion is to determine the relative relevance of each of the Nomination Factors, and the relative weight attributable to each of them.
- 6.4 The Nomination Panel is required to exercise its absolute discretion:
 - 6.4.1 Prudently;
 - 6.4.2 With sound judgment;
 - 6.4.3 Reasonably and justly;
 - 6.4.4 In good faith; and
 - 6.4.5 For a proper purpose.
- 6.5 A member of the Nomination Panel must recuse himself or herself from taking any part in the making of a nomination decision under this Nomination Criteria in any circumstance where that member is affected by bias, or where there would be a reasonable apprehension in the circumstances that the member is biased.

7 Selection Event and Qualification Event

- 7.1 Wrestling Australia is able to send a maximum of two (2) Athletes per weight class to the Qualification Event. The determination by Wrestling Australia of the Athletes to participate in the Qualification Event shall be made based on the provisions of this clause 7.
- 7.2 In order for an Athlete to qualify to participate in the Qualification Event, the Athlete must participate in one (1) of the Selection Events and achieve the minimum result referred to in clause 5.2.12 above in their chosen Selection Event. Further details about the results achieved in the Selection Events and the consequences for participation in the Qualification Event are set out below in this clause 7.
- 7.3 Where an Athlete participates in the Sydney Selection Event and places first (1st) in their weight division at that Selection Event, Wrestling Australia will nominate that Athlete to participate in the Qualification Event.
- 7.4 Where an Athlete participates in the Sydney Selection Event and places second (2nd) in their weight division at that Selection Event, and where an Athlete participates in the Perth Selection Event and places first (1st) in their weight division at that Selection Event, the Nomination Panel shall be required to exercise its discretion in order to determine which of those athletes, in the same weight division, to nominate to participate in the Qualification Event. In making this decision the Nomination Panel shall make its decision in its discretion as further detailed at clause 6, having due regard for:
- 7.4.1 Which Athlete does, in the opinion of the Nomination Panel, have the best possible chance of producing a podium performance and winning a gold medal at the 2022 Commonwealth Games.
- 7.4.2 Whether or not an Athlete has met the eligibility requirements set out in clause 5.
- 7.4.3 An assessment of the Athlete's performances at the Selection Event in which they participated.
- 7.5 The Nomination Panel will take into account all of the performances of all eligible Athletes at the Qualification Event, as a primary method of assessing which eligible Athletes would (if nominated for selection by Commonwealth Games Australia) have the best possible chance of producing podium performances and winning gold medals at the 2022 Commonwealth Games.
- 7.6 It is therefore vital that eligible Athletes participate in the Qualification Event if the Athlete wishes to be considered by the Nomination Panel, for nomination to Commonwealth Games Australia for selection in the 2022 Australian Commonwealth Games Team.

- 11.2 An Athlete may appeal their non-nomination on one (1) or more of the following grounds:
